Divine Crochet Angel Pattern

By: Sarah Zimmerman for AllFreeCrochet.com

This darling and Divine Crochet Angel shares her calming Christmas spirit with all who behold her. Pretty braided locks cascade down her back and set her apart from other crochet angel patterns.

Whether perched on your dining table as the centerpiece, nestled in the ring of an advent wreath, or snuggled by a grateful child, this amigurumi angel is sure to add an elegant touch to your holiday decor. Hook this little haloed beauty, and let her bring peace and joy to your heart this holiday season and all year 'round!

This pretty crochet angel makes a lovely Christmas gift for a little girl or boy. We promise they'll hug it every night and their little angel will make them feel loved and safe. What could be better for a child?

Fasten off and weave in ends.

To make hair, cut strands of yarn about 18 inches long. Hook yarn with your crochet hook in the middle of the 18 inch strands and under a stitch on the top of the head (one at a time). Pull through. Now grab the ends of the yarn (you should have 6 strands because your yarn is now halved) and pull through the loop. Pull tight. Trim yarn after you have covered the top of head. Braid and trim hair if desired.

Sew head to top of the body.
